WENT TO SEE "MOX."

Mr. E. Germelman, who resides on the reighton road near Mr. Jacob Feitig's lace, informed her that probably "Mox's" orse might be for sale, as he was sick from a wounds which he had received, and ould have to sell the animal to pay board. "I resolved to see 'Mox,' and ask him bont the horse," said Mrs. Newman to a ispaich reporter who called at her house esterday afternoon, "and went down to r. why he wanted to sell.

"Then it didn't look like a horse that would kick much?" said the reborter.

"I should think not." replied Mrs. Newman, "and when I got him he was nearly starved. I don't think he had gotten anything to eat at all in the last few days except what he could pick up by grazing. That is all it did for me—eat."

"The peddler told me that the reason he was selling the animal was to pay his board.

"No." said Mrs. Newman, "she did not, iough she offered to buy him some from ne of the neighbors. I don't think Mrs. eitig has but one cow."

ADAMS AND SULLY PRESENT.

"Yes, both of them came in, but they inth't have anything to say. Mr. Jake citig also came across the yard, and talkd a good deal. Our conversation was caried on entirely in German."

In concluding her remarks to the re-porter Mrs. Newman said that "Mox" talked so sensibly that she never would have believed he could have died so quick. "I could see that he was right sick," said the, "but he didn't show it very plainly. He must have been injured internally."

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR WHAT HE SAID.

In conversation with a Dispatch reporter resterday Dr. A. L. Leftwich, coroner of Henrico country, said: "I have been asked several times for my opinion of the pedder Rosdeitcher's mental condition. Not having seen him during life I can say nothing definitely as to the real or apparent condition of his mind, but after a careful descenting of and examination made seven condition of his mind, but after a careful dissection of and examination made seven days after death, I feel no hesitation in stating that after receiving such injuries it would be almost impossible for him to have had full control of his mind. The blow was received immediately over the torchead, producing a depression of his skull, and consquently pressure upon the brain. With these post-mortes facts before us and the different conflicting statements made during life I am willing to state in justice to all parties con-

Tatk with a Friend of the Feddler.

Mr. I. Metellits, who resides at No. 1437 cast Franklin street, was a warm friend of the dead peddler, who boarded with him nine years ago, when he first came to this country. "Mox" he says, was then only sixteen years old and nearly destitute of money, but exhibited remarkable business talents, and was a "saving" fellow.

Perceiving that the youthwas of a thrifty turn, Mr. Metellits gave the boy $1.50 to begin business with.

With this "Mox" laid in a supply of goods and from that time until his death seemed to thrive, acquiring later on a borse and wagon and becoming well known throughout the county.

MIS LAST VISIT

On the Sunday before "Mox" and consument of Dangerous Building.

The old storehouse at the southeast corner of Walmut alley and Seventeenth street, just opposite the entrance to the First police station, to which the Dispatch referred several days ago as being in an extremely dangerous condition, will be torn down to-day.

This is done by direction of Police-Justice Crutchfield. The building, which was clothing store, threatens to tumble down at any moment and places adjacent property as well he persons passing along the street in peril.

The property being in chancery the Judge of the court was recently informed of the necessity for the removal of the house. He notified the city authorities that he did not feel authorized in the present of the property as well he persons passing along the street in peril.

RIS LAST VISIT

Mr. Metellits was asked by "Mox" to go in with him and buy a piece of land, which consisted of eighteen acres and a small house, all of which could be purchased for $500. Mr. Metellits is uncertain as to the location of the property, but believes it was within a mile and a half of Seven Pines or of the Seven Pines railway and belonged to an old man—a doctor. Sully's Case to Be Called This Morning.

The case of Tom Sully, the young color-ed man charged with the murder and rob-bery of Rosdeitcher, will be called before Squire Atlee at the county court-house this morning at 10 o'clock for preliminary examination.

Sully was employed as a farm-hand by Mr. Feitis and was the first person arrested, and one of the only two taken into custody by the county authorities, the other being Adams, who was released on bail several days ago.

The witnesses for the Commonwealth were being summoned yesterday afternoon and the chances are that the hearing will be proceeded with this morning. They are Messrs, Feitig, Adams, Superintendent Davis of the county poorhouse, Mr. S. Stern, the pawnbroker, who was a warm personal friend of the deceased and has displayed great energy in attempting to ferret out the mystery, and another Hebrew citizen, whose place of business is on Seventeenth street near Mr. Stern's.

he defence will try to prove an abbi, in this endeavor they will rely upon testimony of the young negro Gaines. Daniel, as he says his name is, who was found only a day or two ago, after having been wanted for two weeks, and the father and other relatives of the prisoner.

Though Gaines is put down for the defence and will be so examined the Commonwealth hopes to use him as an important witness in connection with the murder. It is believed unless some links in the chain of circumstances can be secured from Gaines's testimony Sully cannot be convicted of the erime. His cross-examination will therefore be quite rigid.

Mr. E. Beverley Slater is associated with James Hayes as counsel for the defence, and it is understood that Messrs. Harvey Willson and H. M. Smith, Jr., of Richmond, will assist Mr. Thomas in the prosecution.

She is the German lady to whom "Mox" Rosdeitcher, the murdered peddler, tried to sell his horse, and is one of the last persons to whom he spoke prior to his death. Her evidence will probably not be of a material character, but it is quite likely that she will be wanted by one side or the other to corroborate certain circumstances. Mrs. Newman has several cows, and furnishes milk to persons in the city. Some days after "Mox" had been assaulted she found herself in need of a horse, and made inquiries of the officials at the electrons are sheds as to where she could purlike to express any opinion on the subject. stains were human blood and would not like to express any opinion on the subject. It was evident to the casual observer that the stains in both of the up-stairs rooms were from vegetable matter and their color under the glass was very different from those on the wall and at the foot of the steps. The last named was darker than that on the plastering, showing the effects of alkali, used doubtless in scouring the floor.

"I resolved to see 'Mox.' and ask him about the horse," said Mrs. Newman to a Dispadic reporter who called at her house yesterday afternoon, "and went down to Mr. Feitig's the next day—Wednesday—before dinner."

"and he said he would let me keep the horse for trial the would let me keep the horse for trial the first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided I would feed it, first day or so, provided with a laugh. "for it wouldn't even walk, and I could hardly get it to move. The next day I sent it right back by my little boy."

"Then it didn't look like a horse that would kick much?" said the reborter.

"The idea is to have an analysis of all of them made with a view to ascertaining whether the blood found in the dwelling corresponds with that on the coat and in the stall.

RECEIVER BEFORE COURT.

HIS LAST VISIT

On the Sunday before "Mox" was assaulted he was at the house of Mr. Metelits and while sitting in a window there counted his money.

Mr. Metellits remembers very well that he had in his nossession two $10 bills, two $5 bills, two $2 notes, four $1 bills, eleven silver dollars, and $20 in quarters and halves, making a total of $69 in all. He showed no check. He says that "Mox" always counted his money when he had occasion to have any of it changed.

Mr. Metellits was asked by "Mox" to go in with him and buy a piece of land, which consisted of eighteen acres and a small house, all of which could be purchased for $200. Mr. Metellits is uncertain as to the location of the property, but believes it was within a mile and a half of Seven Pines or of the Seven Pines railway and the proper condition, but as he recognized the receiver's lack of funds to use for that purpose, he would not fine him if he should fail to disobey his orders.

Mr. Brown admitted that it was very unsafe, and said he recognized the fact that it should be removed, but he had no funds whatever as receiver, and therefore could be are no expense attached either to moving it or putting it in a proper condition.

Thereunon Justice Crutchfield decided that he would give Mr. Brown, if he desired it, until 3 o'clock to take proper steps to remove the building or put it in the proper condition, but as he recognized the receiver's lack of funds to use for that purpose, he would not fine him if he should fail to disobey his orders. ORDERED DOWN.

Mr. Brown said as he thought the thing ought to be attended to at once he would waive the time allowed him, and declined then and there, for the reason given, either to remove the house or repair it.

Thereupon Justice Crutchfield decided that the city should have it removed, or so much of it as is necessary for the saiety of persons passing the alley and along Seventeenth street, and requested Colonel Cutshaw, who was present, to employ tor the city, under his order, proper persons to tear down the building.

While on the stand Mr. Brown stated that he was the agent of the adjoining property, and that would go down when the other falls, and as a precautionary measure he had employed at his individual expense a watchman at the place to warn persons of the danger and he had also notified the occupants of the next house to vacate at once, as they were in danger of being killed at any moment.

Mr. W. D. Rickman, an employe at the shops of the Richmond and Danville railroad, had his hand badly mashed yesterday by a trip-hammer. The wound having been dressed by Dr. C. W. P. Brock, Mr. Rickman was taken to his residence on south Laurel street.

As soon as the committee was called to order Mr. Britton moved that the Democrats outside of the room who wereanxious to witness the proceedings be admitted, and if it was found necessary to go into executive session they could be asked to retire. EXECUTIVE SESSION DEFEATED.

Mr. Bowery made some objection to this, and Mr. H. F. Phillips moved that the committee go into executive session at

Mr. Phillips's motion was lost, and one was adopted instructing the Sergeant-at-Arms to invite all Democrats waiting on the outside into the room. This duty being performed by Mr. Wilkinson, quite a crowd of spectators came in and took Brady, Saville, Wallace, Guy, and Blackburn.

The letter of Mr. Wise to the acting Chairman, published in the Dispatch of yesterday, was also read.

As soon as this was done Mr. Brady said he desired to state that it was not true, as Mr. Wise said in his letter he had heard intimated, that no record of the voters was kept at the election held at the First precinct in Clay Ward.

Later in the evening Mr. C. I. Philips, who presided at the meeting referred to by Mr. Wise, declared that that gentleman had been greatly misinformed as to the conduct of the election. A record was kept of every voter, and the plan was strictly carried out.

MR. WISE'S SIDE.

In the absence of Mr. Wise, who had been expected to be present, his claims were represented by Mr. C. V. Meredith. He was accorded the privilege of the floor and spoke about twenty minutes. He argued to show that the election in the Fourth precinct of Clay Ward was absolutely fair from all accounts, and no one had been in lived by ward was absolutely fair from all accounts, and no one had been in lived by ward was absolutely fair from all accounts, and no one had been in lived by ward was absolutely fair from all accounts, and no one had been in lived by ward was absolutely fair from all accounts, and no one had been in lived by ward was absolutely fair from all accounts, and no one had been in lived by ward was absolutely fair from all accounts, and the lived by lived by ward was absolutely fair from all accounts, and the lived by lived by from all accounts, and no one had been injured by a mere form in the plan not being complied with.

At this point Mr. Bowery wanted to know of the speaker if in a general election a person places his name on the back of his ticket what effect it would have.

Mr. Meredith replied that the statutes prohibit anything of that kind, but in the elections such as that lately held to elect delegates no statutes govern or apply to them.

If the result stands as announced last night the city will poll seven votes for Wise and one for Ellett. There is a probability, however, that there will be a protest sent up to the City Committee with reference to one of the elections, and that the committee will be asked to order a new one.

It was intimated that this may be brought to the attention of the City Committee.

Mr. Meredith then went on to say that in our own party such little technicalities should not be taken advantage of. He appealed to the common sense of the members it this was right. The Clay-Ward precinct meeting was honest and fair, and he thought that was the main object of the plan. To have a new election would, in his opinion, engender bitterness, While he did not knew as much regarding the election in the Marshall Ward precinct as the sone in Clay Ward he thought it would be well to let that also stand. Neither Mr. Wise nor Colonel Ellett would be hurt, thereby, as it is generally admitted that from the two precincts they have an equal number of delegates.

Upon the same subject a letter from Mr.

Gentlemen.—We, the undersigned, respectfully ask that the proposition of Mr Moore and associates to build and operate a railway along Cary street be denied for the following reasons:

1. The heavy business which is carried on on a large portion of this street requires at all times the presence of a great many teams, which now block and obstruct the street to such a degree as to make it difficult to pass.

All of which we submit are good reasons for denying the application referred to.

CHAMPER BUILDING.

The subject of the Chamber building was then taken up. Subscriptions reported to date amount to $45,400, with promises for $1,900-$47,300; but as three hundred and eighty-one members of the Chamber have not as yet subscribed to the scheme, it was thought more money should be raised.

The question of closing for the lots on which the Chamber has options was then considered by the Chamber.

An offer of Lots No, 901 and 903, on the southeast corner of Main and Ninth streets, was also discussed. But no conclusion being reached the whole matter, upon motion of Mr. T. N. Carter, was referred to the Board of Directors.

There being no further business the meeting then adjourned.

A meeting of the board will be held soon to act upon the matter of the site. CHAMBER BUILDING.

THE SIGNATURE NOT GENUINE.

the Lee Will Case.

Messrs. J. D. Craig. Deputy City Treasurer, and W. R. Quarles, the well-known banker and broker, have returned from Fredericksburg, where they were called on Wednesday to testify as experts concerning the genuineness of the signature to what purports to be the will of the late S. Smith Lee, which is being contested before Judge Keith.

This case has been pending about eighteen months and has attracted considerable attention on account of the prominence of the persons attacking the paper, which they claim to be fraudulent. Mr. Lee was a son of Commodore Sidney Smith Lee and a brother of ex-Gevernor Fitzhugh Lee.

The following is a copy of the document: This day I will and bequeath to my children, Nannie Marie Lee, Louis Napoleon, John Clark Lee, and Annie D. Lee, all my estate, real and personal.

ISigned!

Attest: A. M. Green, William Walker.
May 6, 1883.

Messrs. Craig and Quarles were positive that the signature was not that of the deceased, with whose genuine writing they made comparisons. They had no doubt that it was a lorgery and were firm in the belief that the same person who signed the name of A. M. Green as a witness wrote the entire document. Mr. Peter Conway, of Conway, Gordon & Garnett, and Cashier Taylor, of the National Bank, also pronounced the signature a forgery.

It was expected that argument would begin yesterday. St. George R. Fitzhugh represents the plaintiffs, the Lees, and W. S. White and Judge James B. Sener appear for the children. The claimants under the will are alleged natural children of Lee and those who seek to upset it are his mother and brothers. The case was removed from Stafford.

SOLDIERS AT THE HANGING. Detail from the First Regiment to E cort Phillips to the Gallows. At 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning a datachment of twenty-five soldiers from the First regiment, under command of Captain C. Gray Bossieux, of the Grays, left the city for Petersburg to guard John Phillips, the murderer of Captain R. C. Overbey, in his transit to Boydton, where he will be executed to-day.

Great pressure was brought to bear upon the Governor to respite the prisoner, but on Wedensday evening, as reported in this paper yesterday, he made known his intention not to interfere with the sentence of the Court.

Captain Lassiter, of the Petersburg Grays, and twenty-five men to accompany the Sheriff of Mecklenburg county with the prisoner John Phillips from the jail in Petersburg to Boydton: stay until sentence of the Court is executed, and see that prisoner John Phillips from the Jali in Petersburg to Boydton: stay until sen-tence of the Court is executed, and see that peace is preserved. If the Grays are in camp send some other company; should think twenty-five men enough."

It is presumed that the Governor had reasons for thinking the friends of Phillips might attempt to take him away from the Sheriff or in some way effect his release,

All doubt that the person referred to in yesterday's Dispatch as having been killed in Newark, N. J., on Tuesday night was P. Calvin Johnson, of this city, has been re cunning, and other races and various atta-letic sports.

Of the one hundred and fifty-one pri-soners now in the city jail thirty-five are white men, eighty-six colored men, and thirty colored women. These are several little boys counted in the number of men. Captain Epps has the prison in a neat, clean condition, good order is preserved, and everything is moving along smoothly at that institution. His brother in law, Mr. Hull, left here resterday morning for Newark, and telegraphed back in the afternoon that it was Johnson and that his head was badly crushed. He is expected to return to Richmond with the remains at 8 o'clock this morning.

There seems to be some mystery as to how the man came to be killed. His body was found on the cow-catcher of a train as it went into the city, but how it got there is a matter of surmise.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

Famville, Va., August 14.—The first genuine business stroke ever attempted by the town of Farmville was that of this afternoon. At a largely-attended meeting of her representative citizens with capitalists of Virginia and of other States present, Dr. W. W. H. Thackston was called to the chair and Mr. D. S. Hudgins appointed secretary. After appropriate addresses from the Chairman and Colonel E. R. Stamps, of Raleigh, N. C., Judge L. L. Cochran, of Fort Payne, Ala., made a speech explaining the purpose of the gathering, which was to form a syndicate preliminary to permanent organization of the Farmville Coal and Iron Company, which will be effected in September.

This was done to secure the properties on which options have been taken. No sooner was the invitation given to all present to join the syndicate and name the amounts they would subscribe than was the enterprising liberality of the Farmwille people shown, and the amount necessary was quickly raised.

THE TOWN JUBILANT. The body was dressed in a neat-fitting suit of light-colored clothing; he wore dark-colored hose and Congress gaiters, and had on a Gordon sash. He was very well built, with good features, black hair, and a moustache of a few weeks' growth. He was not over twenty-five years of age, and his hands showed no evidences of ever having performed manual labor. On examining the clothing a complete set of dental instruments was found. The cases bore a strong odor of anesthetics, and had been considerably used. The forceps were bright and were stamped "Fremont," the manufacturer's mark. A cabinet photograph was also in one pocket. It was that of a young woman about twenty-two or twenty-three, with a round, full face, dressed in a dark skirt, black Astrachan sacque, dark kid gloves, and wide-brimmed hat with a large feather in front. On the back of the picture was written "My darling. Received July 25, 1890." It had been carried in the pocket probably since that date, and was comiderably worn. An envelope found in the pocket was postmarked "Richmond, July 21, 1890," and was addressed "Mr. P. C. Johnson, Greenway, Nelson county, Va.," but had no enclosure. PERSONAL. THE TOWN JUBILANT.

All Farmville is in a state of jubilancy over the encouraging reports given out by expert mineralogists who have been investigating the wealth of lands adjacent to her borders. The capitalists here express themselves as highly gratified at the result of to-day's work and speak with certainty of rich developments of Farmville's values in the near future.
